Britain Prepares New Proposals To Settle Greek Govt.

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Britain is preparing "generous" new proposals to Greek Cypriots to settle their demands for self-government and may ask the United States to help sell the plan to the Turks, an informed source said Saturday.

This indication of the direction Britain is taking in moves toward a showdown in the 14-month-old rebellion by Greek Cypriots who want a union with Greece came as Sir John Harding, the British governor, returned from nearly three weeks of consultation in London.

He was reported to have discussed the new proposals while in London.

The informed source said Britain was approaching the problem "generously, from the Greek point of view" but the Turkish minority on the island was a stumbling block to a solution because of its resistance to the idea of a Greek majority in a Cypriot Parliament.

Therefore, he said, "Britain may ask the United States to help sell the plan to the Turks, for there is a delicate question in balance.

Both Greece and Turkey are members of NATO. Obviously Britain does not want to alienate a NATO ally and she could conceivably if she tried to force her point. Thus Britain may ask the United States to act as a sort of middleman in convincing the Turks that their interests will not be neglected.

Speeding Ticket Dismissed In Champaign

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — A combination of technicalities Saturday won dismissal of a speeding charge for Mrs. Eugenia Nichols of Tuscola.

Mrs. Nichols was ticketed Wednesday by state police for speeding in Savoy, five miles south of Champaign. Her husband, George, a Tuscola attorney and former Douglas County Republican chairman, retained C. E. Tate, Champaign attorney, to help fight the case.

Saturday morning Police Magistrate Virgil W. Burgess allowed a motion to quash the ticket on grounds that it told her to report to him in the city hall but didn't say in what city.

Burgess ruled the defendant had a right to raise technical legal questions, because the state is using a technical device, such as radar, to catch speeders.

Champaign County State's Atty. John J. Breese said he expects to file a new complaint against Mrs. Nichols in another court.

Three Killed In Plane Crash Near Pontiac, Mich.

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Three men were killed Saturday night when two small private planes collided a quarter of a mile northeast of Pontiac Municipal Airport.

Killed were Dale Matthews, 25, of Charlevoix, Mich., pilot of one plane, his passenger, Jess Trout, 60, of Almont, operator of Almont Airport and owner of the plane; and Arnold Pickett, about 55, of Drayton Plains.

Chairman Leonard Hall summoned members of the Arrangements Committee to Washington to complete plans for the party's 1956 National Convention. During the meeting, Hall (above) mopped his brow with a handkerchief inscribed "I Like Ike."

Ike Pleased With Convention Plans; Assume He Will Run

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower expressed "personal pleasure" Saturday over Republican National Convention plans, which were drawn up by GOP leaders on the assumption he will run again.

The word that Eisenhower was pleased with the selection of convention officers and other arrangements came from press secretary James C. Hagerty who said, however, that Eisenhower shed no light at all on his political plans.

Plans for the convention, including the selection of Gov. Arthur B. Langlie of Washington to be the keynote speaker, were settled Friday by the Republican arrangements subcommittee of the party's National Committee.

Committee Chairman Leonard Hall, while saying he had no direct word from the recuperating President, told reporters covering the proceedings that he had "not the faintest" doubt that Eisenhower will run again.

"You can paste the names of Eisenhower and Nixon in your hats," Hall said.

The afternoon medical bulletin from Walter Reed Hospital, where the President underwent his intestinal operation two weeks ago, said:

"The President this morning inquired of his physicians as to when he would be discharged from the hospital.

"His physicians informed him that if his recovery continues as it has to date he would be able to leave the hospital in about a week."

The afternoon Walter Reed report said Eisenhower "has made steady satisfactory progress" and the wire sutures put in after the operation had been cut "and will be removed within 24 hours." Superficial skin sutures were taken out several days ago.

Cool In Nation's Northwest. But Still Hot, Humid

By The Associated Press

It was delightfully cool Saturday in the nation's Northwest and northern Rockies, but warm and humid in most other areas.

A giant flow of warm air originating in a high pressure hump over the Gulf of Mexico pressed as far northward as central Michigan and southern New England, stirring up thunderstorms.

Generally, daytime temperatures were in the 50s and 60s from the northern Rockies west, and well down into California. From the Central Plains east to the Atlantic and south to the Gulf, temperatures reached into the 80s and 90s.

Showers and thunderstorms doused areas from the plains through the Great Lakes region and the Central Appalachians. Thunderheads were developing from the northern Rockies to the Dakotas, and southward in Kansas, Oklahoma and northern Texas.

BODY TAKEN FROM RIVER, PATIENT AT STATE SCHOOL

DIXON, Ill. (AP) — A body taken from the Rock River Friday night was tentatively identified Saturday as that of Joel Young, a patient at the Dixon State School.

Robert Preston, Lee County coroner, told an inquest jury which returned a verdict of drowning that identification could not be established positively because of the body's condition.

Young, committed to the school from Chicago, was reported missing Thursday. Preston said the body apparently had been in the river about 36 hours.

Delegates Will Be Named Next Week In Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indiana's delegates to both national conventions and candidates for U. S. senator, governor and minor state offices will be named next week in state conventions with national implications.

Democrats will meet Tuesday and Republicans Friday at the Fairgrounds Coliseum here. Both conventions are one-day affairs.

Behind the scenes in the Democratic convention will be a contest between National Chairman Paul M. Butler of South Bend, Ind., and ex-National Chairman Frank E. McKinney of Indianapolis.

On the Republican side is a battle between Gov. George N. Craig and the forces of Sen. William E. Jenner. The Jenner forces are led in the state by Lt. Gov. Harold W. Handley, who is seeking the nomination for governor. Craig can't succeed himself.

Butler favors S. Hugh Dillin, Petersburg lawyer, for the Democratic nomination for governor and his prestige will suffer if Dillin loses.

Michael Arlen, Author Of 'The Green Hat', Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Michael Arlen, whose novel "The Green Hat" was a sensational best seller of the roaring 20s died tonight at his Park Avenue home after a long illness. He was 61.

Arlen was said to be one of the few men to become a millionaire by his writings.

He adapted "The Green Hat" as a play, with Katherine Cornell in the leading role of Iris March. It also was made into a movie starring Greta Garbo.

Though he wrote and published books and short stories before and after his 1924 hit, he never was able to match "The Green Hat's" success.

He lived quietly and wrote little in recent years. His reputation as a wit and a sophisticated remained undimmed through the years.

Born Dikran Kuvumjian at Rostuchuk, Bulgaria, Arlen went to England at an early age and took the pen name Michael Arlen when he published his first book at the age of 18. He became a British subject in 1922, later lived on the French Riviera until the outbreak of World War II, and then moved to New York.

Puerto Rican Scramble Nearly Injures Spellman

NEW YORK (AP) — A wild scramble among some 20,000 Puerto Ricans attending a religious festival Saturday very nearly brought injury to Francis Cardinal Spellman, Mayor Robert F. Wagner and others.

The melee occurred on the Fordham University football field, where the Puerto Rican residents of New York had gathered to celebrate the annual feast of St. John the Baptist—patron saint of San Juan, Puerto Rico.

A tradition of the observance is the breaking of the "pinata," a jug suspended from a pole and containing gifts.

The mayor, blindfolded, was accorded the honor of breaking open the jug with a paper-covered club.

Once he had done so, the Puerto Ricans as per custom lunged forward in an effort to grab the gifts falling from the jug.

The surging, shouting crowd shoved the mayor about 10 feet. Newspapersmen, photographers, police and spectators were knocked down.

However, police finally managed to free the mayor and Cardinal Spellman, who was standing nearby.

FORMER CHICAGO MAN KILLED IN IOWA CAR CRASH

RUTHVEN, Iowa (AP) — An elderly man was killed Saturday in the collision of his car and a semi-trailer truck east of here on highway 18.

Dead was Albert Samuelsson, 74, formerly of Chicago. Authorities said Samuelsson had picked up the last of his personal effects in Chicago and was planning to drive home to Los Angeles, where he was going to live.

Officers quoted the truck driver, Manuel Amaral of Somerset, Mass., as saying the crash occurred as he was attempting to pass a slow moving farm vehicle. Amaral was not injured.

Wilson States Did Not Mean 'Phony' Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson Saturday backed away from any charge that senatorial moves to increase U.S. Air Force funds are "phony". The White House denied it pressured Wilson into action.

"Wilson's use of the word 'phony' Thursday in a news conference at Quantico, Va., had set off a storm in the Senate. Member after member denounced him. Some Democrats called for his ouster. Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said Wilson was guilty of 'an unwarranted slur.'"

Saturday Wilson told reporters at Quantico he had either been misunderstood or "partly" misquoted. He remarked to the reporters: "I don't blame you men too much. I blame myself."

Presidential secretary James C. Hagerty was asked whether any White House aides had spoken to Wilson urging him to modify his Thursday remarks.

"No," Hagerty replied. He declined to say anything more than Wilson.

Among the topics:

1. The big senatorial storm over Wilson.

Unveils Lower Cost Rival To Veterans Payments Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Olin E. Teague (D-Tex.) unveiled Saturday a lower-cost rival to the giant veterans payments bill which has been approved by his House Veterans Affairs Committee.

Teague said he will push his version, designed mainly to help seriously disabled veterans, as a substitute for the committee bill which features an American Legion-backed plan for $105-a-month pensions.

The politically hot legislation is headed for a House floor battle Tuesday with the election year outcome still anybody's guess.

The Eisenhower administration is strongly against the major provisions of the committee bill, which the administration estimates would cost 14 billion dollars the first year and a total of 148 billions by the year 2000.

But congressmen have been reporting their mail is lopsided in favor of the bill.

Teague's substitute is expected to be backed by House Speaker Rayburn (Tex.) and perhaps some House Republican leaders. It would cost 200 million dollars the first year. Later costs were not given.

Teague, in a statement, joined in the forecasts of the major veterans organizations which—except for the Legion—have said the committee bill has no chance of becoming law.

The omnibus committee measure would raise pension rates for widows of veterans and the compensation to veterans for service-connected disability. In addition to the Legion provision for non-service-connected $105 monthly payments to World War I, II and Korean War veterans at age 65 if their incomes fall below certain limits.

MINE OWNER KILLS COAL VALLEY MAN

COAL VALLEY, Ill. (AP) — Henry County authorities said John Milke, 62-year-old Coal Valley mine owner, shot and killed William McGinsey, 38, at Milke's Mine Saturday.

McGinsey, also of Coal Valley, was the father of four children. George Nelson, Henry County sheriff, was investigating. A motive for the shooting and other details were not available immediately, he said.

Says Reds Could Have Ocean Spanning Missile By 1960

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — Gen. Thomas D. White, acting chief of the Air Force, told a top-level Defense Department meeting Saturday that information "clearly" indicates that Russia could have significant strength in ocean-spanning missiles by 1960.

In talking to a session of the defense secretaries' annual conference—which includes both the civilian and military leaders—White also expressed concern over efforts to devise ways of countering an attack made by Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles.

He called "critical" the requirement to provide an effective missile defense. White declared that development of both counter-missile systems and protective shelters "must be given high priority."

The general, in the text of his remarks which were made public, did not offer an estimate of when the American IBM program might become significant. However, officials said they were ready for trials by then.

2. Wilson's order to 11,000 military officers on desk jobs around Washington to change from uniforms to civilian garb starting July 1.

Within a few hours Wilson took these steps:

1. Announced he never meant to insult senators.

2. Withdrew his order for civilian clothes. (Eisenhower, evidently taking account of grumbling among officers about the extra expense of buying a lot of civilian clothes, had passed the word that he felt the question of dress should be optional with them.)

Wilson told reporters at Quantico, where he is attending a conference of defense chiefs, that he did not mean to use "phony" in any connection with what was going on in the Senate.

"I didn't intend it that way," he said.

Asked why he hadn't said so Friday, instead of waiting until Saturday, the secretary said:

"I didn't realize it was such a blow. I thought it would die out."

The word "phony" got into the situation this way:

Wilson told his Thursday news conference that he did not need any more money for the Air Force than he had requested. The Democratic-controlled Senate Appropriations Committee had voted $1,160,000,000 more than he had asked, and Sen. Bridges, top Republican on the Armed Services Committee, had countered with a proposal for 300 million dollars extra.

In discussing Wilson's problems, a spokesman asked:

"You are to shave off more money, aren't they?"

"I think that's a phony," Wilson replied.

Asked what that meant, the secretary said, according to a Pentagon transcript of the conference:

"Well, maybe I shouldn't have said it, but the people of our country (Continued on Page Seven)

1500 European Rioters March Against Moslems

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — Fifteen hundred European rioters marched on the Casbah Saturday, clamoring for arms against Moslem rebels who use the old Arab quarter as a base for hit-and-run attacks.

Violence erupted at the edge of the Casbah. Two Moslems and one European were killed by a policeman.

The riot followed attacks by a four-man rebel commando group from the Casbah in which two persons were slain.

Mourners at St. Eugene Cemetery, attending the funeral of a young European killed by the rebels, started the march toward the Casbah, chanting the "Marseillaise."

After molesting several Moslems the demonstrators reached the market place of the Bab-el-Oued district, which borders on the Casbah. They overturned Moslem market stands, trampling boxes of fruits and vegetables.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Reverend Maynard at the First Christian church before a large gathering of friends and relatives. A profusion of woodwardia, huckleberry and white summer blossoms against palms and illuminated by white tapers burning in branched candelabra adorned the altar of the church. Lemon leaves and tapers were placed on the two fireplaces at the rear of the church and white satin bows with huckleberry marked the center aisle pews.

Mrs. Louis Stone presided as the organist and Mrs. Carmen Scranton of Kirkwood, Missouri, was the soloist.

The bride wore a waltz length gown of Italian silk. Alencon lace enhanced the scoop neckline and was woven into the folds of the bodice made with fitted sleeves. The skirt featured a high Empire waist falling into graceful princess lines and continuing into a bouffant sweep at the back. Her waist-length veil of imported illusion was secured to a queen's crown of lace matching that used in her gown and accented with pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a cascade arrangement of fleurs d'amour and lily-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Moore wore dance pink crystal with a matching color at Terry Hall of the bride, served as the matron of honor. The two a Colonial bouquet of sweetheart roses and violets.

The bridesmaids were gowned identically to Mrs. Moore, with the same type bouquets.

The bride's mother chose for the wedding poudre blue chiffon and lace with matching color accessories and a shoulder corsage of pink camellias. The mother of the bridegroom wore toast color chiffon with purple throat orchids worn at the waist.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. The newlyweds have left for a honeymoon in Nassau and the latter part of July will take up residence at Boulder, Colorado.

The bride attended Lake Forest Academy, Terry Hall, Colorado College, at Colorado Springs and is a member of Gamma Phi Beta. For the past two years she has taught at Stuart School in Springfield. USW President Says Union Given 'Ultimatum'

NEW YORK (AP) — Steelworkers President David J. McDonald said Saturday the steel industry has given his union an "ultimatum" to accept "a substandard contract" and insists "that its employees gamble on an unknown future for five long years."

McDonald called this "the most flagrant provocation on the part of the industry toward disruption of relations." He added that it was an "about face" after 20 years of collective bargaining.

The United Steelworkers of America has set a strike deadline for next Saturday, when its contracts expire. The union and major steel companies have been negotiating since May 23.

A 90-minute session Saturday produced no visible results. Another meeting is set for Monday.

McDonald, in a filmed telecast on the ABC network, said the industry's offer amounts to about a nickel an hour pay increase for the nation's 650,000 steelworkers. The steel companies also insist on a five-year, no-strike contract, which he said means that steelworkers must "gamble their future."

Previous contracts have run for two years with a wage reopener.

Majority Vote Indicates Nasser Victory

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Unofficial reports from voting centers Saturday night indicated a huge majority had marked a little red circle for Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser in Egypt's "yes or no" election of a president.

Great numbers of the 5,720,000 registered voters, including women for the first time, voted throughout the nation Saturday in Egypt's first election in seven years. At the same time they were asked:

To vote on a new constitution that will transform Egypt's government from a nine-man military council to a civilian system governed by law.

Official results are not expected to be known until Sunday.

Given voting rights for the first time, 150,000 women were registered and a high proportion of them apparently cast ballots.

After the election Nasser will retire as a military man. So will all the other eight members of the council except Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, who will remain the army's commander in chief. The new constitution requires the Cabinet to be civilian.

Alton Man Held To Grand Jury In Jerseyville

JERSEYVILLE — Roy K. Hill of the Alton vicinity, who has been held in the Jersey County Jail since May 25 on a charge of accessory before the fact of burglary and larceny, was released from jail here Friday afternoon on bond of $1000 for his appearance to the grand jury of the September term of Jersey County Circuit Court.

The charge against Hill arose out of the recent burglary at the Anderson Jewelry Store in this city, and the complaint against Hill was filed by L. L. Anderson, proprietor of the store that was burglarized.

Hill was arraigned following his arrest and demanded a preliminary hearing. Bond for appearance was originally fixed in the sum of $2000. The preliminary hearing date had been continued several times. Friday afternoon he waived preliminary hearing before Justice A. Thatcher and was held to the September grand jury session.

Hill has steadfastly denied any connection with the Anderson Jewelry store affair.

Plenty Of Puppies
A resident of Fidelity Township was in Jerseyville Thursday afternoon to report the abandonment of two dogs in the locality where he farms. The one dog gave birth a couple of weeks ago to ten puppies and the other was in the act Thursday of entertaining the canine stock.

The farmer estimated that approximately 20 pups would be depending on the two adult females. He requested Sheriff Herman C. Kirchner to turn the situation over to the county rabies inspector for final disposition. The farmer reported that the dogs had wallowed down wheat of the value of $100 belonging to him, as they hunted for rabbits in the grain field.

Hollywood's Old Style Westerns 'Deader Than A Passel Of Rustlers'

By HAL MCCLURE

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bored with old Western movies on television, early, matinee or late, late shows? Tired of watching immaculate cowboy heroes on big white horses—accompanied by fun-loving, chase sidekicks riding pants—chase the villains atop the black horses? Fed up with endless saloon fights, "six" guns loaded with twice that many bullets and heroes who prefer the pretty heroines to their ponies to the pretty heroines? Then fret and fume no more.

Hollywood's old "bread and butter" formula Westerns, so popular in the 1930s and early 40s, are deader than a passel of rustlers cut off at Eagle Pass. Studios aren't even making them any more. Only TV itself makes a few condensed 30-minute replicas, designed mainly for the kids.

Today's feature-length Westerns, filmed primarily for the big movie screens, but eventually headed for TV's smaller ones, are lush in color, he-man in scope and realistic in approach.

And the trend, Hollywood says, is for more colorful, rope-saw biographical of flesh and blooded frontier heroes. Writers, producers and directors all agree today's Western is big and tomorrow's will be even bigger.

An example is "The Searchers," a whopping $2,600,000 Western starring John Wayne. Its producer Merian C. Cooper says:

"Hollywood is definitely after more realism for its Westerns. First, all Indians are pictured as bad. They were characterized to bite the dust, and they did. Then we showed all Indians as good fellows and white men villains.

"Now we're after realism and try to show there's good—and bad—in everyone. No one's completely pure."

"Nowadays," says Western actor James Arness, star of television's "Gunsmoke," "the cowboy can't be expected to just kiss his horse and go off into the sunset leavin' the little gal waitin' behind. He has to grab her and they ride off together."

Another pitch for the modern Western is made by Borden Chase, one of the industry's finest writers whose screen credits include "Red River," "Winchester 73," "Bend in the River" and many others. He observes:

"The successful Western now is long on character, narrative and scenery and short on plot. The story line is simple, woven around a simple theme."

Chase, a ruddy-faced, stocky man who looks younger than his 55 years, predicts there will be more true life stories about actual people and events. To illustrate, he named two Universal-International Westerns starring Audie Murphy: "The Proud Land," the story of Philip Clum, an Indian agent who captured Geronimo and pacified the Indians without a gun, and his own screen play on the life of Charles Russell, the great Western pioneer.

Chase, a Brooklyn-born expul magazine writer who never rode a horse until he was 40, is now a real expert on Western Americana—particularly the cowboy and his equipment.

But he says it's possible to get "too pretty or history happy." As an example, he points to "Lone Star," in which "I got carried away with early Texas and all its heroes."

through the NATO membership of Greece and Turkey and through the British - sponsored Baghdad Pact, which is anchored on Turkey.

Reports coming from Cairo through both news and diplomatic channels said Saturday that Nasser would prefer to avoid much deeper involvement with the Soviet Union. He is described as being aware of a dangerous threat to his real national independence.

Yet he has already gone so far on a pro-Soviet line that he has aroused strong antagonisms in Washington and London and made it difficult for officials of the two Western governments to take the steps which Nasser may require to keep him out of the Soviet camp. The situation is complicated and delicate.

Unveils Lower Cost Rival To Veterans Payments Bill

"I'm aimed primarily at aiding the seriously disabled and gives some recognition to the veteran who served overseas."

"I am not interested in proposals which have no chance of passage," declared Teague, who has been in a running fight with Legion chiefs. "I am interested in supporting something for our disabled which has a reasonable possibility of passing both the House and the Senate and being approved by the President."

The Texas Democrat said his measure would "salvage something for seriously disabled veterans" out of the committee bill by increasing disability compensation by about 10 per cent. Compensation to those totally disabled because of their service would be increased from $181 to $250 a month.

The present $135 nonservice-connected monthly pension to veterans so seriously disabled as to require care of another person would be raised to $150.

Also, present limited pensions would be increased about 5 per cent for those whose war service included at least 30 days outside the United States. That would raise the existing rates of $66.15, $78.75 a month to $70 and $83.

Ike Pleased With Convention Plans; Assume He Will Run

Hagerty said he thought he might have word early next week as to where Eisenhower will go for convalescence after he leaves the hospital. Unofficial speculation has favored his farm home near Gettysburg.

On the basis of what the doctors said soon after the operation, it will be another one to three weeks after the President leaves the hospital before he will be able to resume the full duties of his office.

Presidential assistant Sherman Adams and other White House aides visited Eisenhower Saturday morning.

It was Adams who gave him the report on the GOP arrangements and Hagerty said Eisenhower "was very pleased by the report he received . . . expressed his personal pleasure."

Later, when he passed the weighing station he saw no truck, Shaffer said.

Although Wilson was wearing blue jeans and a blue shirt when he fled, Shaffer said he was "positive it was Wilson" and that he had seen Wilson's picture in a newspaper Friday.

Shaffer was taken to Ravenna to look at photographs of the hunted man.

While Shaffer talked to police, sheriffs were calling off the dog a fruitless manhunt in an area west of here for Wilson, a burly truck driver. Men on horseback, highway patrol airplanes and scores of armed possemen had combed the rough country and down various "tips" to no avail.

Juanita Wilson, 36, common-law wife of the hunted man for eight years, does not think he will be taken alive.

STORK TOO FAST; BARRY BABE BORN IN FAMILY CAR

PITTSFIELD — Mrs. Dale L. Williams of Barry, near here, came in second in a race with the stork to St. Elizabeth's hospital in Hannibal, Mo., on Thursday about noon.

Mrs. Williams gave birth to a son in the back seat of her automobile while parked at a service station in Hannibal. Becoming aware that they would lose the race to the hospital, Mr. Williams went into the service station to call an ambulance. When the ambulance arrived, Mrs. Williams was in the back seat of the car and the baby also arrived.

They were taken to the hospital where attendants reported that she had been delivered of a baby boy, weighing four pounds and two ounces. The baby has been placed in an incubator, and hospital authorities report that both baby and mother are "doing fine."

Mr. and Mrs. Williams are also the parents of another son, Ricky Dale, eleven months old.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

Pinch-hitting for Harry Grayson
By JIMMY BRESLIN
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA)—Casey Stengel, his baseball undershirt hanging down to his knees, growled about how he had just lost this here ball game and if people would just pay attention to Ol' Case, things would be O.K.

But, no, they don't, he growled and then headed for the door on his private dressing room at Yankee Stadium.

"I want to show you something," Casey said and he led the two writers with him out on the runway and up the flight of stairs to the Yankee dugout.

It was long after the game and the ballpark was deserted. But Casey put one foot on the dugout's top step and began pointing, just as if the game were still on.

"See up there?" he shouted, finger pointing at the right field stands. "Williams upstairs once in a while, right? Pretty good shot, huh? Henrich downstairs now and then. Good, huh?"

"Well I'll show you a kid who'll hit it over . . . OVER the whole roof!" Casey waved his arm wildly.

Then he turned to the centerfield bleachers. "How far?" he asked. Somebody read off a 447-foot sign for him.

"Di Maggio hits the wall. Pretty good, huh?" Stengel kept going. "Well, I'll show you a kid who'll hit one OVER the stands!"

Herepeated this as he turned to the left field stands, and by now his listeners were perked up.

Stengel was in a pose, his finger pointing at the light stands, high atop the left field third deck, when the writer next to him said, "Who is this guy?"

With that, Stengel turned and started down the steps, his shoulders shrugging.

"I say he's ready now, but they won't let Case have him. They claim I'm rushing him."

Who is he? the guy asked again.

"Some kid in Joplin," Casey answered.

This was in 1950 and it was the first time the "kid from Joplin," as he called Mickey Mantle, had been mentioned around New York. The story is put on paper here because, at this moment, Master Mantle has become the most important ballplayer to come along since Willie Mays had 33 home runs before the All Star game break way back in 1955.

Right now, the main question in any social circle centers on this blond-haired package of speed and muscles and his chances to break Babe Ruth's 60-homer mark.

As he swats balls at implausible distances, every move the Mick makes becomes news. Fans jump out of the stands to grab him.

To anybody who was with Stengel that day in 1950, the Tales of Mickey Mantle are being published as expected. So as a member of the know-it-all-the-time school, this department would like to advance one bit of dry statistical material which, when tossed into the Mantle hopper, comes alive.

That would be the batting average of Lawrence Berra, catcher, who bats fourth in the Yankee lineup, behind Mantle.

Last year at All Star time, Yogi was hitting .283 and he had 12 home runs. A dangerous hitter, yes. But off to a slow start, the kind which allows for a certain amount of gambling by a pitcher.

So Mantle, at this period in 1955, had 17 home runs and only a .298 batting average.

The pitchers were giving him that high one constantly. It was a ball more often than not. But, they figured, so what if he walks? Berra ain't that hot to kill you just yet. This is not to say they disregarded Yogi. He simply wasn't so fearsome then. Nothing like he is now.

For this spring, squat Yogi has boomed his average into the .330's. He has 17 home runs. He is a terror. So how, the pitchers ask themselves, can you afford to play extra safe with Mantle, let him get on with that walk, when you have this murderer coming up behind him?

Berra is, of course, not responsible for those half-mile shots Mantle hits. The Mick does them by himself, thank you. But we do submit that leave us not forget Yogi in the rush. He is helping out pretty well.

You pitch to Mantle today. You can't duck him because Yogi is next. That's all Mickey wants. Just pitch to him. He takes care of the rest.

Scott's Triple Decides 1-0 Win For Legion Nine

Larry Scott tripled in the fifth inning with Mike Scott on base to give the American Legion a 1-0 victory over the visiting Southwest Kiwanians from St. Louis, Mo., last night at the Nichols Park diamond.

Rex Hazelrigg toiled on the mound for the Legion team for five innings and received credit for the victory. Larry Scott took over for the tiring Hazelrigg in the sixth frame. Scott and Hazelrigg combined their pitching slants to whiff 12 visitors. Stephenson fanned nine Legion batters and allowed five hits in a nine inning stint. Of the five hits for the Legion, Larry Scott paced the attack with two hits in two trips to the plate.

The Legion scored the only run of the game in the fifth inning as Mike Scott walked with one out and scored an out later on his brother's triple.

BERNICE BOWLS 289

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Bernice Price started with a spare, rolled ten strikes in a row and ended with nine for a 289 game. It was the highest game for a woman in Omaha in almost 20 years. She also scored 223 and 176 for a 688 series, highest this year for a Nebraska woman bowler.

Detroit bonus pitcher Jim Brady won 18 games and lost 6 in three seasons with St. Peter's High of Jersey City. He's a southpaw.

Red Sox End Gorman's Spell With 6-3 Win Over Kansas City A's

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Boston shattered the Tom Gorman spell Saturday night to defeat Kansas City 6-3. It was only the second defeat the Athletics' bespectacled righthander has suffered at the hands of the Red Sox during his entire American League career. Gorman went into the game with an all-time 8-1 record against Boston. He was 2-0 against the Red Sox this season. But the Sox got to him tonight for 8 hits, and five runs, including homers by Ted Lepcio and Sammy White, before Gorman was relieved by Bobby Shantz in the sixth.

The win put Boston 2-up in the three-game series that ends Sunday. A crowd of 16,042 turned out Saturday night.

Mel Parnell, making his first appearance since he sprained an ankle May 16, got off to a shaky start, walking in an A's run in the first. Then he settled down to a brilliant performance until the ninth when he ran out of gas. He walked Power and gave up a single to Johnny Groth. Pinch-hitter Lou Skizas was safe on Lepcio's error and Rance Pless, batting for Shantz, singled to score Power and Groth.

Ike Delock was called in and ended the rally, striking out another pinchhitter, Eddie Robinson, and forcing Hector Lopez to fly out.

Stengel Blasts Managers For Walking Mantle

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP)—Casey Stengel, manager of the New York Yankees, was talking Friday night about his favorite subject—Mickey Mantle—when some fans draped a sign in the right center-field stands in Comiskey Park reading "Go Go Mantle."

"See what I mean?" cried Casey. "There are fans that have probably driven 300 miles just to see the guy and then there are managers in this league who want to walk him (Mantle) just to be walking him."

Casey was nearly in tears as he said, "It's not fair to the fans to walk him, it's not fair to him to walk him." Then Stengel twinkled his eyes and added wistfully: "It's not fair to me to walk him."

Actually Casey was whistling an off tune in moaning about Mantle's walks. In 61 games, Mantle has had only 38 bases on balls. Mantle, who has hit 27 home runs and is gunning for Babe Ruth's record of 60, has been at bat 232 times and is batting .379.

Teammate Gil McDougald has drawn 34 passes while White Sox outfielders Larry Doby has drawn 38 and Minnie Minoso and Dave Philley have been issued 33 each. "I know all that," said Casey, "but I'm thinking about what they're thinking of doing."

In Friday night's game, which the Sox won 5 to 4 in 12 innings, Mantle walked twice, once intentionally in the 11th inning to load the bases. He got one hit, a single in the ninth to bring in the run which tied the score at 2-2.

Casey then went on to talk about how far Ruth used to hit his homers and this prompted the question of who hits them farther, Mickey or the Babe. Stengel thought a minute then muttered "are the parks bigger or smaller? Is the ball lighter or heavier? I don't know. But they both hit 'em pretty far."

Does Mickey hit 'em farther left handed or right handed was the next question. "Well," pondered Stengel, "he's hit 21 left handed and 6 right handed. I used to think at first he hit them longer left handed. Then I thought he hit them farther right handed. Now I'm convinced he hits them farther in center field."

Haney Insists Law Of Averages Going For Braves

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Is Fred Haney a 20th century miracle man who waves a magic wand and gets what he wants?

Is this mild-mannered little man a legendarist who turns apparent failure into mighty triumph?

"It's not quite so complicated," laughed Haney, who has piloted the Milwaukee Braves to seven straight victories since he took over as manager just a week ago today. "It's a little thing called the law of averages that's going for us."

Last Saturday, the Braves were in fifth place in the National League and manager Charlie Grimm turned in his resignation. Haney, one of his coaches, was installed as manager with dark hints that he wouldn't be around next year if he didn't produce a pennant winner.

Since then, the Braves have been unbeatable. Their seven game streak represents the longest of a National League club this year. Their hitting and pitching have been meshing as evidenced by Friday night's 3-1 victory over the New York Giants. Ray Crone handcuffed the Giants until the ninth inning and Bill Bruton and Eddie Mathews hit home runs. "I wish I could take credit for the surge of our club," sighed Haney, who managed the Pittsburgh Pirates to three last place finishes in 1953-1954-1955. "But I think everyone knew this was a better club than it had been showing up to be."

Tom Courtney Sets New Mark In AAU Meet

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Tom Courtney of the New York Athletic Club opened the final night of the National AAU Track and field championships Saturday night with a meet record breaking victory in the 400 meters.

The former Fordham athlete, now in the Army, won the event in 45.3 as the former holder of the record, Herb McKenzie of Jamaica, looked on.

Courtney stars in the 800 meters but switched to this event to sharpen up for next week's Olympic team tryouts in Los Angeles. Charlie Jenkins of Villanova was second beaten back by Courtney in the final 75 yards.

One new world record was up for recognition, another was tied and four meet marks were broken Friday night. Dick Hart, formerly of Pennsylvania, won the 5,000 meter run, with Mal Robertson of the Los Angeles Striders second and Gordon McKenzie of the New York Pioneer Club third. Hart ran the route in 14:47.

The 56-pound weight throw, a non-Olympic event, was won by Bob Backus, New York A.C., with a toss of 43 feet. Stewart Thompson, a teammate, placed second at 40.3.

Highlight of the evening was the 13.4 set in the 110-meter high hurdles by the navy's Jack Davis. The former University of Southern California star clipped on-tenth of a second off the established world record set in 1950 by another USC man, Dick Attlesey.

CHARLES DUE, a senior at the University of Illinois, will be in the lineup for coach Lee Eilbracht's Illinoisans tonight against the Jacksonville Merchants.

Charlie graduated from Jacksonville High School in 1947. He was an outstanding athlete both during his high school career and his three years under coach Al Miller at Illinois College.

Due signed a professional contract with the Washington Senators in 1949 and played several seasons in the Washington chain before serving four years in the Air Force.

After his discharge from service, Charlie decided to finish his college education and chose the University of Illinois. He's working toward a physical education degree, and plans to be a coach.

Due would have probably been the number one catcher for the Fighting Illini this past baseball season, but decided to quit the squad because of his background as a professional player.

Swaps Streaks To New World's Mark At Inglewood

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Rex Ellsworth's great colt, Swaps, streaked to a new world record in the mile and one-sixteenth Inglewood Handicap Saturday, smashing his own standard for the distance.

The California-bred champion finished in 1:39 flat, winning over Mister Gus by two lengths. Bobby Brocato came in third, trailing another length.

The amazing performance by Swaps eclipsed the mark he set here in last year's Californian of 1:40 2-5. He was timed at the mile in 1:32 3-5, topping his own world standard of 1:33 1-5, which he set in the Argonaut Handicap here two weeks ago.

The Chestnut filer was top weighted Saturday at 130 pounds, 15 pounds more than was aboard when he made his initial record at this distance and two pounds more than he carried in the Argonaut.

Dick Mayer Grabs Lead In Philly Golf Tournament

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Unheralded Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., turned in a record-breaking 63, five under par, to take the lead with a 198 Saturday in the Philadelphia Daily News $20,000 or in golf tournament.

The 33-year-old Mayer smashed the tourney mark of 64 set by five players last year. He shot a one-under-par 32 on the front nine, and returned home even hotter with a 31 on the final nine.

Mayer started the day's play with a 135, two strokes behind the second day leader, Bill Casper, Jr. of Chula Vista, Calif. Mayer's red-hot performance gave him a three-stroke lead over Bud Holscher, of Apple Valley, Calif., in the battle for $4,000 in first place money.

Cary Middlecoff, winner of last week's National Open was way down the list with a 214.

HOUK STILL IN DENVER

DENVER (AP)—Manager Ralph Houk of the Denver Bears' American Assn. baseball team fooled at least one grandstand heckler when he returned for a second season this year. Houk said a third base jockey kept hollering at him during the early part of the 1955 season. "Don't plant any flowers here, Houk, you won't be here long enough to see 'em bloom." Houk managed the Bears to a third place finish in 1955 and will lead the New York Yankees' farm team again.

The major blows in the Phils' attack were a third inning grand slam homer by Del Ennis and catcher Stan Lopata's bases-empty homer in the first. Six of the Phils' nine hits were for extra bases.

Haddix, who came to the Phils in a six-player deal with the Cards, was in trouble in only two innings, the fifth and seventh.

In the fifth Bobby Del Greco, recent acquisition from the Pittsburgh Pirates, led off with a homer and Stan Musial doubled before Haddix put out the blaze.

In the seventh, singles by Ken Boyer, Musial and Hank Sauer were good for the other two St. Louis runs.

A walk to Richie Ashburn, Ted Kazanski's double and another pass to Lopata set up the scene for Ennis' grand slammer.

Cubs Run Wild In 10th Inning To Hand Bucs 7th Straight Loss, 9-5

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Running away with four runs in the 10th inning, the Chicago Cubs stretched their winning streak to seven games Saturday with a 9-5 victory before 7,809.

What had been a brilliant pitching duel between Warren Hacker and Bob Friend wound up as a high-scoring game in the final innings with neither pitcher around for the verdict. The Cubs came close to breaking their slump, scoring five runs in the ninth. But the rally collapsed when Jim Davis picked rookie Jack Shepard off first.

Ernie Banks hit his 15th homer in the seventh to break up what had been a scoreless duel. The Cubs went on to add another run in the seventh, one in the eighth and two in the ninth for an apparently safe lead.

With two out in the ninth, Shepard rammed a pinch single to score the tying run. But a moment later he was caught off first and the Pittsburgh threat was ended.

The Cubs got their four runs in the tenth of three singles, two

5 Former Illinois Amateur Champs Enter Golf Meet

SAVOY, Ill. (AP) — Five former champions, including the defending one, Gene Readette of Rockford, are included in the field of 172 golfers launching the 26th annual Illinois State Amateur golf championship here Monday over the University of Illinois course.

Eighteen holes of qualifying play will occupy the field both Monday and Tuesday. The 63 low scorers will join Readette, who qualifies automatically but who will shoot for the medal, Wednesday to open match play. A 36-hole final Saturday determines the champion.

Ex-champions along with Readette are Jim Frisina of Taylorville (1942, 1947, 1954); Johnny Hobart of East Moline (1935, 1950); Hal Foreman of Highland Park (1944, 1945, 1951); and Mike Stolarik of Waukegan (1943).

Frisina is labeled the golfer to beat in the field. The Taylorville veteran not only has won the state three times but also was runner-up in 1941 and 1948.

Bob Goolby of Belleville heads a list of strong contenders among the non-champions. Goolby, one of the longest hitters to ever play in the state, won the 1955 Southern Illinois and Irvn S. Cobb amateurs and the 1956 St. Petersburg amateur. He reached the state quarter-finals last year.

Others include Bill Barnhart, Downers Grove, 1956 state high school champion and winner of the 1954 Boys Open; Bernie Mazzusen, Winnetka, 1955 prep champion; Tom Brown, Aurora, Southern Methodist star; and the Biber twins of Hinsdale—Bob, who attends Stanford, and Dick, who goes to Michigan.

The Chicago Park District was runner-up with 56 points.

Barbara Jones and Barbara Mueller of the Comets were double winners. Miss Jones taking the broad jump and 50 meter run and Miss Mueller the javelin and 80 meter hurdles.

Saturday's meet was a warm up for the National A. A. U. meeting in Philadelphia Aug. 17 and 18 and the Olympic tryouts in Washington, Aug. 25.

GOV. STRATTON WELCOMES RACING COMMISSIONERS

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. William G. Stratton Saturday welcomed the National Assn. of State Racing Commissioners who are holding their 1956 convention in Chicago.

Stratton praised the popularity of thoroughbred racing and said more than 3,000,000 people visit Illinois race tracks annually.

"The popularity of horse racing in this state," said the governor, "stems from public confidence in the operations of various tracks."

The convention will continue through Thursday with a series of social and business meetings.

McAFEE WINS RACE

ELKHART LAKE, Wis. (AP) — Jack McAfee of Sherman Oaks, Calif., ahead of the field by at least 10 lengths after the first two laps, piloted his Porsche to an easy victory in the featured 100-mile sports car race before 15,000 fans Saturday.

The German-built auto averaged 77.4 m.p.h. over the tricky four-mile course. Ed Crawford of Northfield, Ill., also in a Porsche was second and Ed Lunken of Cincinnati, Ohio, driving a Ferrari, was third. Seventeen cars were entered in the race.

Etcheverry Says Cards Official Refused His "No"

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP) — Sam Etcheverry, stellar quarterback for the Montreal Alouettes, testified Saturday a Chicago Cardinal official "refused to take no for an answer" when Etcheverry refused to play football for the Cardinals this year.

Etcheverry made the statement at his federal court hearing in which the Cardinals seek to bar him from playing for the Canadian League club, and instead seek to obtain his services for the coming football campaign.

Etcheverry said he wrote Walter Wolfner, managing director of the Cardinals in March saying he had decided that Montreal and his coach Douglas Walker had been good to him and he was going to continue to stay with the Alouettes.

Etcheverry testified after writing Wolfner in March that Wolfner refused to take no for an answer and asked if he could come see him in Albuquerque where he arrived May 24.

"He was still trying to get me to consent to a suit. I said no, that I didn't agree that he could win it, and that I wanted to consult with my attorney."

However, he testified Wolfner called him the next day and said that he saw that Etcheverry could not make up his mind so he had decided to bring suit against him.

Chicago White Sox Move Within 3 Games Of Yanks With 2-0 Win

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — Probably unnerved by a fast-swinging charge to the found by Dave Philley, New York pitcher Bob Grim cracked Siebern, 1, in the sixth and a 2-0 defeat Saturday by the surging Chicago White Sox, who thus moved to within three games of the pace setting Yankees.

Veteran Jim Wilson allowed only four Yankee hits to match teammate Billy Pierce as the American League's winningest pitcher with 10 decisions.

It was Chicago's second straight over New York, the sixth in a row for the Pale Hose and their ninth in ten on the current home stand.

Grim plunked Philley with a pitched ball to start the sixth.

The ball struck Philley's shoulder, glanced to his head and knocked off his cap. To the surprise of Philley, he spun his bat angrily like a maverick and then rushed out toward Grim.

Near the mound, Philley wound up to swing, but Grim punched first. The Yankee right-hander missed. Philley countered, but also missed. Then players from both benches swarmed in between the two warriors.

Philley was chased from the game and Jim Delsing ran for him. Next up, Sherm Lollar leveled on the upset Grim and poked a double to the right field corner, scoring Delsing. Lollar was out trying for third.

The jittery Grim walked Walt Drope, who made second on Fred Hatfield's infield out. With little Luis Aparicio at 2-2, Yankee second sacker Billy Martin charged to second trying to bluff Drope back to the bag. Aparicio drilled the ball right through Drope.

Wilson, who walked four, issued a pass in the fourth which was wiped out by a double play. Hank Bauer singled with one out in the Yankee sixth, but died on first.

With two out in the seventh, Norm Siebern walked and Andy Carey singled him to second. But Phil Rizzuto popped out.

The fourth and last Yankee hit was Siebern's single with two out in the ninth. Siebern got a triple in the second inning.

Del Rice, O'Connell Smash Homers In 9th To Down Giants 2-1

NEW YORK (AP) — Pinch hitter Del Rice and Danny O'Connell smashed successive home runs in the ninth inning Saturday at Milwaukee won their eighth straight.

Johnny Antonelli had shut out the Braves with only two singles until the ninth.

Antonelli retired the first 13 men in succession until Bobby Thomson singled in the fifth.

Mathews' single in the seventh was the only other hit until Rice, batting for pitcher Warren Spahn, tied the score with a homer.

O'Connell then followed with his first homer of the year.

Going into the ninth New York led on Hank Thompson's leadoff homer in the second.

The Braves haven't lost since Fred Haney replaced Charlie Grimm as manager last Saturday night after the club dropped a game to Brooklyn.

Greatest Tennis Show On Earth Starts Monday

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The greatest tennis show on earth opens Monday at ivy-walled Wimbledon with an American Negro girl pressing Louise Brough as the queen of the east.

Althea Gibson, tall, lean and boyish looking, has won 18 tournaments since she started a tour for the American State Department last autumn in Southeast Asia.

The string of victories has promoted her to fourth seed in women's singles for the Wimbledon championships.

Men's singles play opens the 70th Wimbledon championships Monday. The quest for the men's title, the most coveted in tennis, is wide open since Tony Trabert, 1955 winner, gave up the amateur ranks. Usually men's singles is the big draw but this year, primarily because of Miss Gibson, women's singles is of equal interest.

Miss Gibson, 28, of New York does not play until Tuesday when she meets Edda Buding.

Miss Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., plays 16-year-old Jean Forbes of South Africa Tuesday.

Upwards of 75 outboard speedsters will race a total of 30 miles in 12 races at the Mid-States racing association's annual event sponsored by the Jacksonville Boat Club on Lake Mauvaisterre this afternoon at 1:30 p.m. (CDT). Each race will be 5 laps on a half-mile course.

The drivers must deploy their boats so as to hit the starting line at the exact moment this one-minute period elapses. If they are late, somebody gets the "jump" on them, and long leads in boat racing are difficult to overcome. If the start is false or bad the red flag is again raised and a re-start is called for. If a driver is over anxious and is over the starting line he is disqualified that heat but may participate in the next one. The checkered flag indicates the finishing of the race.

Tickets Available For Legion Trip To Myny Opera

At a recent meeting of Jacksonville post 278 of the American Legion, the members voted to sponsor a bus trip to the municipal opera in St. Louis this summer. The meeting was held in the Legion home.

Commander Edward Witham appointed Frank A. Robinson chairman of a special committee to select the show and to purchase tickets.

Several members expressed a desire to see "The Great Waltz," and chairman Robinson has secured tickets for the evening performance of Wednesday, July 11. A chartered bus will leave the Legion home at 6 p.m. July 11, in plenty of time to get the party to its reserved seats before the performance.

The trip is sponsored for Legion members and their friends. Some extra tickets are available, chairman Robinson said, and invited both Legion members and friends of the Legion who wish to make the trip to contact either him or the Legion home within the next few days.

Girls Staters Name Ann Morgan Governor In Saturday Election

A supremacy established early this week by the Federalist party continued Saturday at Illini Girls State as five of seven Federalist candidates were swept into high state offices in an election which completed governmental organization of the mythical "49th state."

Pretty, 17-year-old Ann Morgan of Marion was named governor.

Her four fellow Federalists who captured top administrative posts are Sally Moore of Streator, lieutenant governor; Gail Pierce of Urbana, secretary of state; Pet Lewandowski of Schiller Park, auditor of public accounts; and Judy Larson of Alton, superintendent of public instruction.

Two Nationalists—Carol Palmer of Minook and Jackie Johnson of Venice, Carol is state treasurer, and Jackie is attorney general. Offices of the mock state's six counties were also filled in Saturday's general election.

To Enter Senior Year The governor, Ann Morgan, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Morgan of 1225 South Court street, Marion. Next fall she'll enter her senior year in Marion Township High School.

The new state officers were installed Saturday night at inaugural ceremonies in Annie Mermer Chapel on the MacMurray College campus, annual site of the American Legion Auxiliary's "learn through doing" educational project in state government.

Each year more than 400-450 this year—girls are selected by Legion Auxiliaries to come to Jacksonville for a week in June. Here, the girls set up and operate an artificial "state" for more than a week, learning the principles of politics and government through participation in mock campaigns, elections, caucuses and conventions.

Annual Banquet Saturday's other big activity for the teen-agers was the annual banquet in MacMurray's McClelland dining hall. There the new state officers were revealed for the first time and introduced to a wildly cheering crowd.

Special guests at the banquet—guests who received the biggest hand of the evening—were several 1935 officers and 1936 office-seekers from Premier Boys State, which opens today at the Illinois State fairgrounds in Springfield.

Boys State, similar in nature to Girls State, is sponsored by the American Legion. Attendance this year will be in excess of 1400.

Sunday the "citizens" of Girls State will devote not so much to politics as to rest and recreation. After breakfast this morning the girls will attend churches of their choice.

Afternoon activities will include a typical city council meeting and a session of the general assembly (legislature) in Annie Mermer Chapel, an alumni meeting and a reception in the social rooms of Main Hall.

FARM VIEWS NEAR ARENZA — Spurred by intense heat and a greater than normal amount of rainfall the corn of this area continued its fantastic growth last week. A lot of it is more than four feet tall now and growing faster than the proverbial weed.

"Splendid prospects for a bumper crop," says Horace Clark, left in the first photo, as he and Martin Burrus inspect some tall corn on the farmer's farm west of Arenza, which is operated by Clark's son, Ralph.

Clark went on to say it looked just as good, "or maybe a shade better than it did last year. And that's going some for the corn on this ground made better than a hundred bushels to the acre last season."

Burrus remarked that prospects were mighty good two years ago, before the intense heat and drought of July, 1954, practically ruined the crop.

Burrus remarked that "1954 was a mighty poor year. It started out so well and then faded away, fast."

A Day to Remember

On Monday, July 13, 1954, Burrus Brothers & Associated Farmers began detasseling hybrid seed corn on the home place. It was too hot to work and everyone knocked off around noon. The next day was worse, and Wednesday, July 15, brought wind heated by a record-breaking 113-degree temperature. By evening the 400 acres of seed corn were ruined.

"You could walk through the field the next morning and everything smelled like curing hay. We began getting ready to salvage what we could and starting chopping it up for silage a week later. To make use of the silage we bought another 100 head of cattle. The steers liked the silage fine, but the market went down and we lost money on them, too,"

Burrus recalls.

Barley — A Good Feed

Clark is president of the Cass county chapter of Farmers' Union. He experiments with various crops and has come to feel that barley has a place in the rotation on west central Illinois farms.

The second photo shows his son, Bob, running a 9-foot, self-propelled combine as he cuts a field of barley "between rains."

The variety is Kentucky No. 1, which was raised last year on one of Clark's farms near Monroe City, Mo. It made around a hundred bushels per acre there last year, and he estimated the field shown above would produce 45-50 bushels an acre this year.

"Barley makes good feed for cattle or hogs. We didn't have any stock this year, so we're selling the barley to the elevator for 80c a bushel and they'll grind it into feed," Clark said.

Boom In Weed Killers

Maybe the farmers of this area were a little slow to accept the benefits of weed-killing chemicals, but they have learned how to use them and this year weed killers were very much in demand. Many farmers cultivated their corn only once, and then sprayed once.

They did it for two reasons, they say.

The prospects for plenty of rain were, and still are, pretty slender. Cultivation stirs up the soil and allows precious moisture to escape; at the same time the cultivator shears off, prunes, the surface roots of the plant. This is also harmful, and particularly harmful in a dry year.

Faster — Easier

The second reason: application of weed killers is cheaper and faster than conventional cultivation. There is practically no "wear-out" to a sprayer and the tractor moves along faster and easier, with less wear and tear, and lower fuel bills.

If a farmer has a good and handy source of water he can spray up to 80 acres of corn a day. This is about twice as fast as he can plow with a four-row cultivator.

"There's not much to learn about spraying," Burrus says. "About all you have to do is read the directions on the can — and stick with them. Many farmers feel that if a half-pint of the stuff to the acre will kill the weeds a pint will do better. That's where they run into trouble."

A gallon of concentrated 2-4-D will treat 16 acres of corn. It costs $4, which figures out a cost of 25c per acre for the chemical alone. A half-pint of the material is mixed with enough water to insure complete coverage. Some like to use about eight gallons of water to the acre; others feel they get a better kill with 12 gallons to the acre.

The main idea, they say, is to keep the pressure low and the nozzles as low as possible. The chemical affects the plant some, making it rather brittle for four or five days.

Boon to Ditches

Weed and brush killers have proven most helpful in the maintenance of drainage ditches. The best mixture is a half gallon of 2, 4-D and the same of 2, 4-ET in 100 gallons of water. The first compound kills weeds and lets grass prosper. The second kills woody plants.

The final photo shows Melvin Schone spraying the banks of Mud Creek drainage ditch at Norman Kleinschmidt drives the tractor. The ditch has been sprayed annually for three years now and the banks are much improved. There's no willows, very few weeds and the grass has formed a good sod.

The corn in the background was plowed once and sprayed once and is practically weed-free. Although we've been getting some mighty welcome rains the country is still dry. In normal years the ditch carried about three feet of water at this time of the year. Now there's just a faint trickle.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

FARM PRICES SHOW IMPROVEMENT

Prices of farm products may have made a good start on an upward trail.

Two important Illinois farm products, hogs and soybeans, have made spectacular price gains during the past six months. Several other farm products also have moved up substantially.

The farm price of hogs moved up from an average of $10.60 last December to $15.70 at mid-May. The increase amounts to 48 per cent, or about twice the usual advance from the winter low to the summer high. This very strong advance, however, still leaves hog prices low compared with prices of most other farm products. Hog prices in May equaled only 72 per cent of parity, which is much lower than most other important farm products.

The average U.S. farm price of soybeans rocketed from $2.06 a bushel last November to an official $2.98 at mid-May. The increase was 45 per cent, much larger than usual for the season, even for soybeans. At $2.98 soybean prices were equal to 102 per cent of parity.

The official index that measures the average level of prices of farm products touched a post-war low of 222 (1910-14=100) last December but had moved up to 242 by May. The December price average was equal to 80 per cent of parity, lowest since September 1940, when Adolph Hitler was starting World War II. The May price average was up to 85 per cent of parity compared with 86 per cent the year before. Price increases from April to May were unusually strong.

The U.S. average farm price of cattle went up from $13.50 last December to $15.40 in May. At this level beef cattle prices were equal to 71 per cent of parity. The reported price for cattle is an average of all classes and grades from Canner cows to Prime steers.

The price of corn went up from $1.09 a bushel last November to $1.39, or 79 per cent of parity. At this mid-May price corn was only one cent lower than the year before. Part of this increase was made by locking up more corn in the price support program.

Prices of all of the other five "basic crops" in May stood higher on the parity scale than the price of corn. Tobacco was 104 per cent of parity; cotton, 90; peanuts, 89; wheat, 83; and rice, 81. The price of wheat at mid-May was an even $2.00 a bushel, U.S. average, up only six cents from last October.

The U.S. average price of milk in May was around $3.86 a hundred pounds and 91 per cent of parity. Prices of butterfat averaged 58.4 cents a pound, or 83 per cent of parity. Compared with a year earlier, the price of milk was up 24 cents and butterfat was up nearly two cents. These increases are about in line with the increases in support prices that went into effect in May.

The national average price received by farmers for eggs in May was 37.5 cents a dozen, which was equal to 86 per cent of parity and nearly four cents a dozen higher than the price received a year earlier.

MORGAN BOYS ATTEND STOCK JUDGING CLASS

Four Morgan County 4-H youths attended the annual district livestock judging school held Tuesday in Greene county.

Rings of hogs and beef cattle were judged during the forenoon at Columbiana Farms southwest of Eldred. Later rings of Holstein heifers and cows were graded at the Farrow dairy farm east of Eldred.

Participants from this county included Bobby Bergschneider, Bob Darley and Don Davis of Franklin and Francis Ater of Arenza.

Accompanying the 4-H members were Mrs. John Gordon of Franklin and Bob Walker, assistant farm adviser.

Dixon Springs Meeting On Low-Income Farm Areas

Representatives from more than 20 state and federal agencies and private organizations will meet at the University of Illinois Dixon Springs Experiment Station on Monday, June 25, to consider opportunities for improving farm incomes in selected Illinois counties.

The meeting has been called by W. G. Kammlade, associate director of the Illinois Agricultural Extension Service. It follows a series of special studies by the United States Department of Agriculture and other federal agencies designed to determine the major low-income agricultural areas in the country and to classify the degree of seriousness of each area.

Twenty counties in Illinois have been listed as areas in which the agricultural income and level of living are low enough to warrant special consideration. All of the counties are in southern Illinois.

In inviting representatives to attend the meeting at Dixon Springs, Kammlade said, "The University of Illinois has been aware of the low farm income situation and has conducted special studies on the problem. The Extension Service and the Experiment Station have helped people as individuals to make the best known use of resources in the areas. But we have no magic formula to replace the responsibilities and ease the burdens of free men."

WINS ILLINOIS STATE FARMER DEGREE

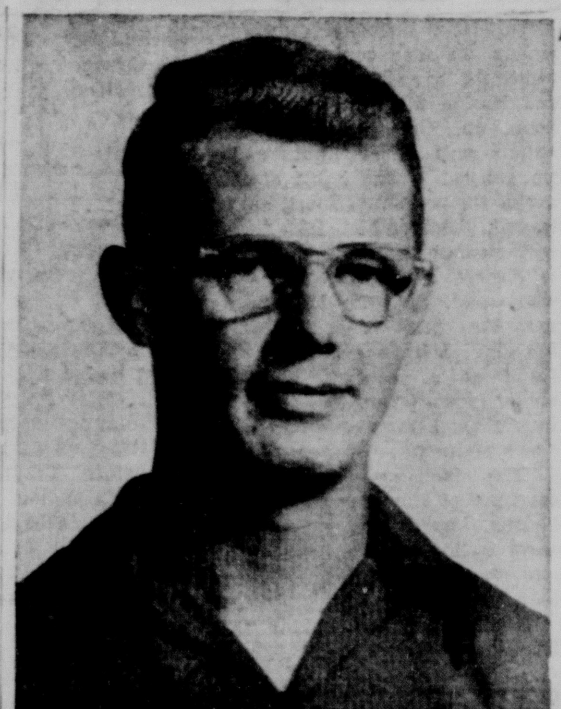

DAVID HEMBROUGH was one of the few high school juniors who won the coveted State Farmer Degree at the convention of the Illinois Association of Future Farmers when it was held early this month in Springfield.

Only 346 youths among the 17,000 who are taking vocational agriculture in Illinois received the degree, and most of them were seniors.

Hembrough, 16, will be a senior at Jacksonville High school next fall.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hembrough, rural route 5. They farm 290 acres about six miles southeast of Jacksonville and raise quite a few hogs and cattle. Right now young Hembrough is preparing some Duroc hogs for the Morgan County Junior fair, which will be held the first five days of August. This will be the sixth year in a row that he has shown livestock at the junior show.

He is president of the East Side Juniors 4-H club, which, with 44 active members, is by far the largest 4-H club in the county, and is treasurer of the M.Y.F. of Grace Methodist church.

Yugoslavs To Inspect Illinois Farmlands

Seventeen men who are described as top-ranking agricultural experts in Yugoslavia will visit New Salem state park June 27 after inspecting Sangamon and Menard county farms.

The men arrived in Champaign last Thursday for a two-week study of Illinois agricultural programs, policies and economics. From now until they leave on July 6 the group will meet College of Agriculture economists and research scientists, visit area farms for first-hand observation of modern farming operations and management practices, hold conferences with State Department of Agriculture officials and representatives of the Illinois Agricultural association, tour the Caterpillar plant and the Northern Regional Research laboratory at Peoria, visit the Chicago Board of Trade and get in on an old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration at Champaign.

Prof. Alvin T. Anderson of the department of agricultural economics is serving as leader of the visiting team. The visit is a part of a study program on American agriculture arranged by the International Cooperation Administration. It was arranged months ago, far before Tito returned to Russia and declared himself "a friend of Communism forever."

Hackleman Named To New Post

URBANA — J. C. Hackleman, University of Illinois professor of crop extensions, who will retire from the University staff as of September 1, 1956, will join the staff of the Illinois Crop Improvement association as its public relations officer as of that date.

This action was taken by the board of directors of the association at its meeting Tuesday and the position accepted by Professor Hackleman at that time. The announcement was made at the banquet given in his honor that evening by the association in the grand ball room of the Illinois Union building on the University of Illinois campus which was attended by 400 of his friends and associates from throughout Illinois and other states.

COMPLETES PLANS TO ENTER U.I.

Bob Pahlmann of Chapin, accompanied by Bob Walker, assistant farm adviser, and David Lakamp, were in Urbana Thursday making arrangements for Pahlmann to enter the U.I. College of Agriculture next fall.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pahlmann and was the winner of the 1956 Morgan county scholarship in agriculture. Pahlmann is a member of the Victory 4-H club.

How Jacksonville Appeared To "Little Deaf Girl" In 1876

Alton Woman,
90, Remembers
Days At I.S.D.

Miss Annie M. Roper, 90, of Alton, Ill., a familiar figure at all of the Illinois School for the Deaf alumni reunions since 1887, was not among those attending the reunion held at I. S. D. this weekend. Up to the last minute she had planned to come to Jacksonville, but circumstances forced a cancellation of the proposed trip.

Miss Roper was born in Alton in 1865 and attended school in that city until the age of eight when she became deaf following an attack of spinal meningitis. In the fall of 1876 she was enrolled at the School for the Deaf here, graduating with the class of 1884.

Following her graduation from I. S. D., Miss Roper became a teacher in the Gallaudet School for the Deaf in St. Louis, Mo., where she taught until her retirement in 1934.

Her letter in part is as follows: "We knew nothing of the Illinois School for the Deaf until early in September of 1876. A friend was visiting in Chicago and she saw an article in the Chicago paper telling of the opening of the school at Jacksonville.

and of the pupils going to the school. She sent it to my grand-ma and I was soon packed up and ready for school.

Horse Car To School
"My grandma and I arrived in Jacksonville Oct. 12, 1876 via the Chicago and Alton Railroad. We took a small horse drawn street car to the school. We were welcomed by the superintendent, Dr. P. G. Gillett. He was very nice and tried to make me feel at home. I was peevish and angry at being taken away to school. I thought I was the only person in the world who could not hear and I thought people looked at me because I could not hear. I did not know the word 'deaf' at that time."

Miss Roper recalls "there was a Republican Rally in town that day."
"Note: The year 1876 was a presidential election year, with Rutherford B. Hayes of Ohio as the Republican candidate and Samuel J. Tilden of New York as the Democratic candidate."

Sign Of The Mule
"School was dismissed in the afternoon," Miss Roper continues, "and the children were allowed to go and see the parade. It passed down State street. We stood in front of the School for the Feeble-Minded in Duncan park. It was a long white building with a high board fence. I climbed on the fence and perched there. My grandma tried to make me get down, but I would not. I noticed the girls near me moving their arms and making signs which I afterwards learned was the sign for 'mule.' If I had known what they were saying I would have probably pulled their hair."

"Note: Prior to being transferred to its present site at Lincoln, the institution for feeble-minded children in Illinois, was located in Jacksonville. Thus, Jacksonville at one time was the home of four state institutions. The girls making the sign 'mule' at Miss Roper meant to say that she was stubborn."

"After the parade," Miss Roper relates, "we returned to the school and Mrs. Bull, the matron, took me while my grandma slipped away. The next day I was placed in a class with Mr. S. T. Walker as teacher. Mr.

Scene will be changed with the seasons until the building is completed. Billed as the world's first bronze-clad skyscraper, it's to be known as the "Seagram Building."

Walker later became superintendent of I. S. D."

Crushed Rock On W. State
"At that time," Miss Roper remembers, "State street was not paved but was covered with crushed rock. Nice large houses and trees were on both sides of the street."

"The School for the Deaf was surrounded by a high board fence. It was easy to climb but woe to the pupil who climbed over it."

"College avenue south of the school," Miss Roper states, "was all woods."
"And to the west there were only two houses, the car barn and the cottage of Mr. Hay, the school gardener. Illinois College could be seen from the girls' yard. Along State street north of the school was a large cow pasture where the boys played baseball. Sometimes we had picnics there."

Wagons, Water Troughs
"I do not remember the downtown area much," Miss Roper concludes, "for I was not down town more than six times during my while stay at the school. Discipline was very strict and the pupils were not allowed to have much money. However, I remember horses, buggies, and wagons were parked all around the square. There were big water troughs at the north and south sides of the square and many time squirrels in it."

Miss Roper owns her own home at 3009 Alby street, Alton. In spite of her age she does all her own housework and according to her neighbors and friends she is an excellent housekeeper.

PRACTICAL SPEED TRAPS

LUBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Mayor S. S. Forrest returned from a trip to tell about the unusual measures taken by the little town of Silver, Tex., to keep motorists from speeding.

Forrest said that as he turned from the highway into the community he saw a sign reading: "Speed Traps Ahead." Speed traps usually aren't advertised. Forrest, his curiosity aroused, kept an eye peeled for motorcycle policemen. Instead he found that the speed traps were a series of ridges built across the asphalt streets, high enough so that any speed greater than 10 miles an hour was impractical.

Chicken Pox Party

By Loella Sloan Young

Peter and Johnny Jones were twin five year old boys, who lived in a big white house on Center Street. Every morning, bright and early they hopped out of bed and dressed quickly, for the boys attended Mrs. Cully's kindergarten and did not want to be late for school.

Every morning they always straightened their room, hung up their clothes, and made their own beds. On the foot of each bed sat a large white rabbit. They had been favorite toys for several years. Peter's rabbit was named Snowball and Johnny's rabbit was named Tinker.

Today was Monday and an exciting day was expected for the twins, for it was their sixth birthday, and a party had been planned. But as the sun streaked through the window, things were unusually quiet.

It was Johnny who awakened early. Remembering what day it was, he rolled over and looked at his brother, who lay staring listlessly up at the ceiling.

Spots On Face
"Peter," Johnny exclaimed in surprise. "Go look at your face in the mirror! You're all covered with red spots!"

Shocked, Peter jumped out of his bed and raced to the bathroom, where he looked in the mirror.

"Oh, no!" wailed Peter, as he turned on his heels and dashed in to his mother's bedroom.

"Mommy! Mommy!" "Look at me! I'm all covered with spots!" he sobbed.

Peter's mother sat up on the edge of the bed and placed her arms around the unhappy little boy and pulled him into her lap.

"Don't cry, Sweetie," she soothed. "Let's have a better look at these spots."

Gently, she eased the shoulder of his pajamas down and sure enough! Peter's face was not only covered with spots, but so was the rest of Peter.

"Oh, dear," sighed Mother. "I'm afraid you have the chicken pox. Go hop back into bed, and we'll call Dr. Smile to come see those spots."

"Will we be able to have our birthday party, now?" asked Peter through his tears.

"Not if it's chicken pox," replied Mother. "But let's wait and see what Dr. Smile says about it."

Sadly Peter returned to his bed. He pulled Snowball, the rabbit, under the covers and buried his face in the animal's soft fur.

In a little while, Dr. Smile arrived. He came into the boys' room, where he stood looking at them with a puzzled expression on his face.

"Well, well," he inquired smiling. "Who did you say had those red spots?"

"Peter," Mrs. Jones answered. "Over here in this bed." She said pointing to Peter's bed where he lay with his head tucked under the covers like a shy little turtle.

Doctor Sees More Spots
"Peter," said the Doctor, still puzzled. "But I see some spots on this young man over here too," he

The door opened and Mother stood there smiling.

"Yes, boys," she said. "We are going to have a party. Put on your robes and slippers and come into the kitchen."

Both Peter and Johnny threw back the covers and hopped out of their beds. They hurried into their robes and slippers.

"How can we have a birthday party, while we have the chicken pox?" they thought. Opening the door, they ran into the kitchen. And what a surprise party they saw before them!

There in the center of the floor stood their little table and chairs. In two little chairs sat Snowball and Tinker, patiently waiting to be served. On the table sat a large birthday cake, complete with candles. It was loaded with white icing, and Mother had drawn a face in chocolate icing, dotting the face with little red dots, to make the cake face also have chicken pox spots too!

"Oh," cried Peter happily. "A chicken pox party! A chicken pox birthday party!"

"Yes," smiled Mother. "And you two guests here," she said as she pointed to the two white rabbits, can't possibly take it from you, because they already have it!"

"Hah! Hah!" laughed Johnny. "Now we can have our party!"

"But Mother," Peter added, "maybe that isn't chicken pox. They are rabbits, you know," he added with a twinkle in his eye.

"Do you suppose we could catch the 'Rabbit Pox' from them?"

"Well," said Mother laughing. "I hadn't thought of that. We'll have to ask Dr. Smile, when we see him again." And she began to cut the spotted cake for four spotted guests.

"Oh, my," she chuckled. "We were so concerned with Peter's spots, that we completely forgot to examine Johnny. And he has them too!"

Johnny's mouth flew open in surprise, as he realized that he too must have the chicken pox!

Dr. Smile sat first on one boy's bed and then on the other. He took their temperatures, and said, "Uh, huh—" in a mysterious sort of way. He listened to their hearts and tapped their chests. "Uh, huh—" he murmured again. He looked in their throats, and finally checked the little spots.

"Well," he said as he folded his stethoscope and replaced it in his bag. "It's chicken pox, all right. And it looks as though they can keep one another company. Neither boy has a fever, so if they play quietly, I believe they can get up this afternoon. But, of course," he added, "no other children must come into the house."

No Birthday Party
"Now we can't have our birthday party," wailed Peter.

"No, I don't think you'd better have a party, Peter, but—" and Dr. Smile stopped, as he saw the long pink ears of Peter's rabbit protruding from under the covers.

"What do we have here?" he asked as he gently pulled the rabbit into view. "Well, well," he exclaimed, as he looked more closely at the rabbit. "Why, I do believe this rabbit has the chicken pox too!"

"What?" cried Peter in surprise as he sniffed back the tears and sat up staring at Snowball.

Dr. Smile opened his bag. Taking some mercurochrome and a swab from it, he painted three large red spots on Snowball's pink nose.

"You see," he laughed, turning the rabbit toward Peter, "he has some very red spots too!"

"Mine too!" squealed Johnny in delight, as he pushed his rabbit toward the kindly doctor for a "dose" of "chicken pox."

When both rabbits had been "examined," Dr. Smile tucked them under the covers, with detailed instructions for their care, and with a serious frown, he departed.

Surprise — Maybe
"Now," said Mother, when Dr. Smile had disappeared down the street. "I want you both to rest. When you awake from your naps, perhaps there will be a surprise."

"What? Mother! What!" asked both boys in unison.

"No," Mother shook her head. "I can't tell you now. Roll over and close your eyes. You'll find out soon enough!" When she had lowered the shades, she slipped out of the room quietly, closing the door behind her.

What's That Good Smell?
When the boys awakened from their naps, they could hear their mother moving about in the kitchen and the sweet savory odor of something freshly baked, drifted into their room.

"Mother," Johnny called. "May we get up now?"

"Yes, boys," she said. "We are going to have a party. Put on your robes and slippers and come into the kitchen."

Both Peter and Johnny threw back the covers and hopped out of their beds. They hurried into their robes and slippers.

Let's Go Birding

Swallows, in general, aren't hard to identify: they are the sparrow-sized birds with long, slim wings, and their flight is truly graceful.

In and around Jacksonville, we have six different kinds of swallows, and one swift, the Chimney Swift, which we met last year. Although beginning birders might at first confuse the Barn Swallow with the Cliff Swallow, and the Rough-winged with the Bank Swallow, the Tree Swallow is unmistakable.

This swallow is probably the most common and, to many people, the most beautiful. Its long and high vest is a spotless white; its back, wings, and tail glow in the slanting sunshine a greenish steel-blue.

Because of its colors it has been called, among other names, the White-breasted Swallow or the Blue-backed Swallow. As it darts gracefully over the reeds of a marsh, it seems to reflect the lustrous green of the reeds and the fleecy white of the clouds floating over the marsh.

Easy To Find
We have no trouble in finding the Tree Swallows at any one of our lakes or surrounding marshes or wet meadows. They skim over these areas, with a dip and a swirl, and banquet on the flying insects. They then rush towards the blue sky and white clouds, soon to return for more insects.

This swallow seems to be appropriately named, for it builds its nest in the natural cavity in a tree or in one chiseled out by woodpeckers. Tree Swallows will also nest in boxes built and put up by man if they succeed in keeping the English Sparrow from taking over.

Come Early
The Tree Swallows are the first to arrive in the spring and the last to leave us in the fall. In the summer the families of Tree Swallows join those of Bank, Barn and Cliff Swallows. It is quite a sight to see these birds as they sit shoulder to shoulder on the telephone wires.

Without a warning from Jack Frost they know when to leave for the South and in their turn leave the telephone wires empty until the next fall. Then we too feel a little empty, or shall we say a little lonesome, and are glad to see them again in the spring.

Letter To Boys, Girls As Told To A. Jones By??

Dear Boys and Girls:

I am a farm animal and you have all seen pictures of me. Some of you have even seen me in the fields.

Some of you are my special friends, like Sue and John. They come to pat me every day.

I am very important. Do you know why?

Can You Guess?

First, see if you can guess who I am. I am a large farm animal, but not as large as the horse. I stay out in the fields all day while the weather is nice and eat the good green grass and little yellow flowers. I sure do like the taste of these.

Of course, in the winter time, there is no grass and so I must stay in the barn, and then Mr. Brown brings hay to me. I am a very gentle animal. The children love to visit me. I like to have them come, but of course, I do like to have things quiet!

When they get too noisy, I say "Moo!" and scare them off. There, I told you. I am a cow.

Now, I said I was important. Well, I am. I give plenty of good milk and that is very important. You ask mother or your teacher, or the doctor. They will tell you!

You need milk for good while teeth, for good strong bones, so you will grow up to be strong. You need it so you will feel peppy and ready for school and fun!

Make sure you drink three or four glasses every day. I have plenty for you to drink.

Goodbye, boys and girls. I must not make this letter too long of the JJC will not print it. But do not forget what I have said to you.

Hugh Green Addresses Illini Girl Staters

State Representative Hugh Green addressed the members of Girls' State and administered the oath of office to the members of the House, Speaker and Senators on Thursday evening.

Mr. Green recalled that he appeared on the program at the first Girls' State in 1940 and has repeated the performance almost every year since then.

He stated that the requirements of the office of Representative include regular attendance at the legislative session, activity in committee, taking part in debates and discussions on the floor, introducing, working and voting for good bills and against bad ones, and always being available to constituents interested in pending or proposed legislation or other matters.

In speaking of the importance of state government he quoted from President Garfield as follows: "The state government touches the citizen and his interest twenty times where the national government touches him once. For the peace of our streets and the health of our cities; for the administration of justice in nearly all that relates to the security of person and property, and the punishment of crime; for the education of our children, and the care of unfortunate and dependent citizens; for the collection and assessment of much the larger portion of our direct taxes, and for the proper expenditure of the same,—for all this, and much more, we depend upon the honesty and wisdom of our General Assembly and not upon the Congress of Washington." The speaker closed by saying that, whether the member is serving in Girls' State or in the State of Illinois, it was his belief that, regardless of luck of fate, we get what we earn.

THREE CYLINDER EXIT

DENVER (P)—What is called the last steam locomotive in the United States that puffed in three-quarter time chugged its final trip between Denver and Cheyenne, Wyo., for the Rocky Mountain Railroad Club.

The rail hobbyists sponsored the final run for No. 9000. The railroad said it was the last three-cylinder locomotive in service in the United States.

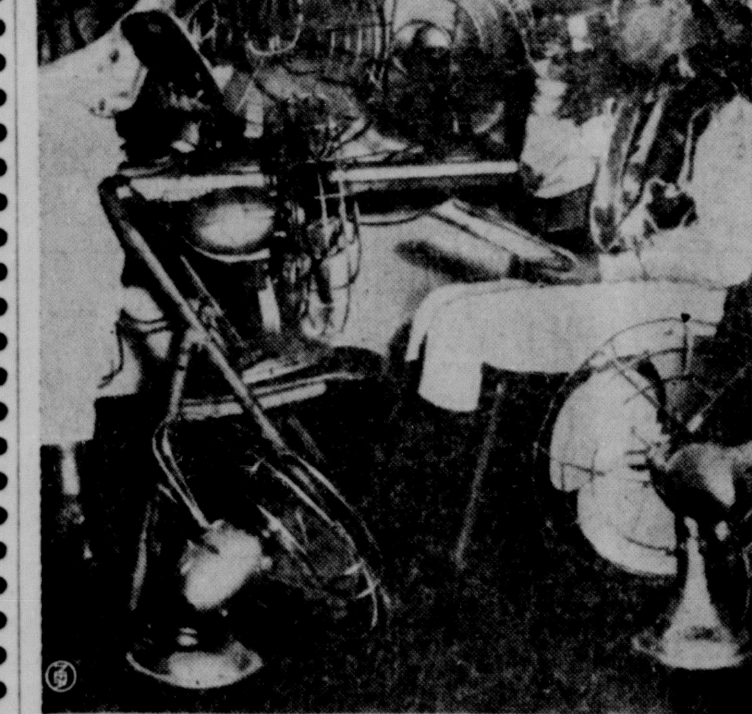

Musicians say the powerful 9000 exhaust is in perfect three-quarter time. It has a third cylinder in the center connected to a crankshaft on the axle of the second pair of drivers. Like other steam locomotives, the 9000 was replaced by diesel engines.

LOST HAPPINESS

MIDDLESBORO, Ky. (P)—At 83 Charles R. Edwards says that the world has lost some happiness during his lifetime.

"The people I grew up with were happier than the present generation," Edwards said. "They didn't know as much as folks do nowadays, but they loved one another, and they were happy with their lot."

He added: "The only things I learned in school were to cultivate myself and to love the other boys and girls."

SAFE AND SOUND
MARIETTA, Ga. (P)—Yeggs who broke into an insurance company office did these things:

Broke locks from two doors to reach a safe; broke the lock but couldn't open the safe; knocked the combination off but still couldn't get in; removed the hinge pins, dragged the heavy safe to a rear door—and found it was too big to go through the opening.

Police found it there next morning—unopened.

WORLD'S MIGHTIEST INLAND WATERWAY—When deep-draft craft steam through the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes waterways system, perhaps as early as some time in 1959, the men who go down to the sea in ships will be traveling the world's longest inland route for deep-draft traffic. Its approximate 2,300-mile length (inclusive of one-way mileage from Lake Huron into Lake Michigan and down to Port of Chicago) will rival the Mediterranean Sea route (inset). The United States, New York State, Canada and her province of Ontario have joined hands in the 900-million-dollar-plus effort which is creating the huge navigation project. CARS ARE MY LINE

by: E. W. Brown

One of the greatest fads since stamp collecting is sweeping America. To some, it seems like a passion for bent-up cars that usually front before the First World War.

To the addicts, it's the new craze for classic and antique cars. At least three national organizations are devoted to the love and adoration of old cars, the Horsecar Club, the Antique Automobile Club and the Veteran Motor Car Club.

The craze has overflowed and now you can find pictures of old autos imprinted on glasses, beer mugs, wall plaques and on men's shirts.

There's a big difference between the antique car and the classic. The antique-lover wants an old and well-preserved auto, usually from before the First World War.

But the classic is something special, it must be a rare and luxurious specimen which the classic-lover will shine and polish and rebuild and—sometimes—pay a fabulous price for.

For some, the classic car hobby can be profitable. A man in New York found an old car in a junkyard a few years ago and paid $350 for it. He had found one of the few remaining examples of the Bugatti Royale, a car that cost $40,000 when new, in the classic car of all classics and is just about priceless today.

But let's come down out of the clouds. When you're looking for a car that is no more than sound transportation, a source of pride and a means to make life easier and more fun—that's when you want to come and see us. Those are the needs a good used car will fill, and good used cars, thoroughly tested, are the only kind we handle.

Jerseyville Gets Two Inch Rain In Tuesday's Storm

JERSEYVILLE—One of the heaviest rain storms of the current late spring struck the Jerseyville vicinity about 10 p.m. Tuesday and dumped rainfall of from two and one-quarter to two and three-quarters of an inch upon the locality.

The initial storm approached from a northeasterly quarter and at the beginning was accompanied by twisting blasts of wind. Farmers in Jerseyville Wednesday morning reported that crops in the locality had suffered some damage from the twisting winds and heavy precipitation.

Combining of early varieties of barley began in many Jersey areas early this week, but the later varieties of the grain not ready for combining were flattened by the wind.

Farmers also reported that wheat fields had been hit hard in some localities. The wheat, nearing harvesting condition, was flattened and twisted to a great extent.

Approximately two inches of rain fell the first hour of the storm, and water courses were quickly raised to near flood stage in many localities. In the City of Jerseyville, streets were flooded in many neighborhoods.

Light up your yard for more summer fun

Lighting up your yard is easier than it looks... and what a treat to be out where it's cool on summer evenings! Whatever your pleasure—barbecues, parties, croquet or gardening—you can do it outdoors on even the blackest nights.

Outdoor cooking, for example, is easily lighted with a weatherproof flood lamp. As temporary lighting, it is mounted on a pole that simply spears into the ground. For permanent installation, it is fastened to the barbecue chimney or to a nearby pole.

The cost is good news. Yard lamp fixtures are often lower priced than the lamps inside your home! Some 20 manufacturers are now producing fixtures for every outdoor use—gardening, badminton, terrace parties, etc. See them and price them at your electrical supplier's or drop in at our office for the new booklet "Light for Living Outdoors!"

P. S. You'll enjoy your lighting more with permanent wiring. An underground cable or overhead line will give you light switch convenience in the yard.

Mr. and Mrs. John Herren and children, Sandi and Dick, returned recently from a vacation trip to Colorado.

They visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Herren, in Pueblo, Colo., and spent several days fishing at San Isabel Lake, where his brother, Virgil, has a summer cottage.

Marcella Gregory, Louis Floyd Wed At Meredosia

MEREDOSIA— Miss Marcella

Gregory and Louis L. Floyd were united in marriage Saturday evening, June 16, at the Methodist church. The pastor, Reverend Russell Ross, officiated at the double ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gregory and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Catherine Deeder, now making her home in Germany while her husband is in military service.

Before the ceremony Miss Vera Kay Fricke played organ selections and the traditional wedding march. Baskets of mixed summer flowers adorned the church altar. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Miss Sandra Little, former classmate of the bride, was her only attendant. Jack G. Gregory, the bride's brother, served as best man.

A white nylon and cotton street length dress with white accessories was the choice of the bride for her wedding. A white hat and corsage of red roses completed her costume.

Miss Little wore a blue dress styled in design similar to that worn by the bride. Her flowers were white carnations.

Mrs. Gregory, mother of the bride, wore a white open wear two piece suit with green trim. Following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at their home serving cake and punch to guests. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. R. W. Wilkinson of Memphis, Tenn., aunt of the bride and Mrs. R. Downey of Chambersburg.

The newlyweds are making their home in Chapin where the bridegroom is employed at Waters service station. The bride attended Meredosia schools graduating this past May and the bridegroom attended schools in Chapin.

New Zealand is approximately 1,000 miles long and is divided into North Island, South Island, and Stewart Island.
